ABOUT RIS4UKRAINE

The aim of the program is to support young people coming from Ukraine on the labor market in Europe, to gain first work experience and on-the-job training, develop competences and skills in the agri-food sector. The project is also created to enable research and development cooperation between scientists from European countries and Ukraine, which aims to strengthening competitive and innovative activities and thus developing innovative ideas or solutions.

The program is also addressed to young people (up to 35 years of age) who want to find a job in the agri-food market and need to adapt their standard of work to the requirements of European companies. The goal of the program in that case will focus on learning good practices along the entire value chain which they might implement in the future after returning to Ukraine.
